

FEELING GROOVY (Feature: 5136)

This Tennessee cottage combines living space and free-spirited guest quarters under one roof.

Location: Tennessee, USA

Photographer: Mark Lohman

URL: <https://www.gapinteriors.com/featuredetails.asp?featureref=5136>

SYNOPSIS

Best friends Casey Freeman and Savannah McNeill have always imagined living a different sort of life. Both long dreamed of charting their own course without a standard-issue road map. Their first joint venture was sharing beauty tips and DIY projects on the internet. Next, they designed and marketed ethically produced fashions. In 2016 they embarked on their biggest challenge yet renovating and decorating an old house in the East Nashville area of Tennessee. Built in 1945, their new house gave Casey, a Nashville anti, and Savannah, Texas-born, an opportunity to explore who they were now, who they could be in the future, and how they want to live their lives. If a home ever mirrors its owners' spirit, this is it! Their house is a clever melding of styles and functions.